

Following recent UGAC approval, College of Arts and Science will be offering a Global Scholar Program at the Troy Campus:

College of Arts & Sciences Global Scholar Program (Troy Campus)

The College of Arts & Sciences (CAS) Global Scholar Program is open to any student in the College of Arts & Sciences, regardless of major, at the Troy Campus who would like to develop their international awareness and global preparedness through a rigorous program involving directed coursework, international travel, service learning, and close relationships with advisors. Each cohort will be limited to 25 students. Program benefits include:

- Designation of Global Scholar appearing both on student diplomas and transcripts attesting to the graduate's international awareness and global preparedness.
- Meaningful international travel experience for the purpose of professional development in the student's chosen field of study. (Most students will qualify for generous supplemental funding for international travel.)
- Regular interaction with international students on campus at Troy University.
- Resume and character-building service learning opportunities in cultural and international contexts.
- Strong relationships with mentors here at Troy University, which will produce highly trained graduates with the connections needed to compete for jobs and funded graduate programs.

Student who complete 12 credit hours of language, which is an optional part of this program, will be able to graduate with a Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree, rather than a Bachelor of Science (BS) degree if so desired. Students interested in service abroad after college are encouraged to inquire about Troy University's Peace Corp Prep Program, which can be completed as part of the CAS Global Scholar Program. Additional information and a link to the application form can be found on the program website at <https://www.troy.edu/casglobalscholars>.
