

Troy University Chinese Visiting Scholars Watched

Spring Festival Gala at CIT

On the morning of Feb. 18th, 2015, Chinese visiting scholars were invited to watch Chinese Spring Festival Gala at CIT Language Lab, lined with colorful balloons, and other traditional festive decorations. This is the 30th year that CCTV started live broadcast of the Chinese Spring Festival Gala all over the world.

The visiting Scholars had a great experience of celebrating the Chinese New Year with friends at CIT Troy University. They forgot about the loneliness in this festive season in a country far away from their beloved ones. They exchanged their greetings and signed in our scroll book to show their happiness, blessings, and the best wishes to our CIT. Besides, they also took pictures to remember the joyful moment and shared the pictures with their friends in the China instantly. The event also attracted local students to the event. After the Gala, they wrote down their New Year blessings in Chinese on our scroll book.

Meanwhile, Dr. Ingram, the Senior Vice Chancellor and the Vice Chair of CIT also came and visited us during the great joyful time, and conveyed his greetings of Year of the Ram to all the people in the lab. The whole event was well acclaimed by both the Chinese visiting scholars and the local students.
